

Summary

The present invention concerns the use of water-insoluble linear poly-alpha-1,4-D-glucans as resistant starch (RS) as well as a process for the preparation of resistant starch characterised in that saccharose is reacted with a protein with the enzymatic activity of an amylosucrase.